FOR COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE LAST OF MAY

Meeting Next Week to Formulate Definite Plans

TO HEAR REPORTS

Method of Financing Local Charities Considered Big Success by People Here

Approach of May reminds local people that the Community Chest drive for the ensuing year which begins the last of May is not far distant. The secretary of the organization announces that there will be a meeting of the directors of the Community Chest next week, the exact date having not been decided.

At this meeting it is understood that complete reports will be made by the secretary and by the Red Cross and other organizations which have been beneficiaries of the fund. The secretary says that not all the money for the 1923 drive has been collected, yet but the small amounts yet due are, for the most part considered collectible.

Considerable preliminary work is necessary before the next Community Chest drive opens. All the arrangements for the drive including the work of organizing the committees and conducting the advertising campaign, tasks that required a few weeks last year, have yet to be done.

In view of the fact that the Community Chest has eliminated the necessity for multitudinous drives during the past year, that it has solved the problem of taking care of the local charities, it is thought the funds may be raised without difficulty this year.

Rural Readers' Needs Big Library Problem

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, April 30.—As the large towns and cities are all more or less adequately provided with libraries meeting the need of the rural reader is the great problem of the Kentucky Library commission, Miss Fannie C. Rawson, secretary, said today.

"As Kentucky's population is largely rural, the work has grown to such proportions that the commission believes the limit of its working capacity, with the present funds, has been reached.

"Besides the 440 traveling libraries issued in the last two years and besides the field work and aid to the libraries done in the last two years, the general loan department has issued 2,520 packages by parcel post."

FREE DAY FOR ROAD WORK IS POPULAR NOW

Mile and Half Fixed Between Berea and Roundstone

PLAN OTHER DAYS

Women Take Part in Work, Serve Community Lunch—Men Come From Far to Take Part

The big community free road work day between Berea and Roundstone Monday made passable a mile and a half of road, according to a telephone message from N. Buckner, at Lexington, today, and will be followed, he said, by similar days on other stretches, as follow: Corbin to London, May 8; Barbourville to Corbin, May 19; and Berea to Roundstone again, May 20. Work on all of these days is donated by citizens interested in improving the roads and delegates from Louisville, Lexington, even Cincinnati and Detroit are taking part in them.

Mr. Buckner said today that the road was in pretty fair condition now as far as Mount Vernon and that traffic was being sent by way of Crab Orchard until the Roundstone to Berea road, now shut off, is finished.

The following account of the big day near Berea is from a Berea dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal:

Women Take Part

The way to get good roads is to build them, even if one has to do it himself.

"Free Day" today on that nearly impassable highway between Berea and Mt. Vernon proved this, when 350 men and women broke stone with six and eight-pound sledge-hammers.

In this host of community road-builders were preachers, teachers, doctors, lawyers, merchants, farmers, druggists and the wives of some of them, all making "little ones out of big ones."

More than 100 of the participants in the giant demonstration went to the scene of their work from this city. Others came from Mt. Vernon, Richmond and Lexington. Everybody walked a mile to work.

Work started promptly at 9 o'clock. The fact that the road was not from an all-night rain was overlooked. Three hours later F. O. Clark, dean of the vocational school, Berea, College, stepped off 600 feet of broken bedrock.

Community Luncheon

Noon was the signal for the workers to quit for luncheon, which was served by the women of the party on the banks of a small stream trickling down from nearby hills. Of food there was plenty for everybody, and as much left over, and variety.

At 1 o'clock work was resumed. The men, and some of the women worked along 1,000 feet of roadbed on which large rocks had been thrown. Very little attention was paid to blistered palms and aching backs. The steady beat of the sledges against stones sounded and resounded. This was kept up until 5 o'clock. Not even then were some content to rest, so much do they want a year-round passable road to Berea, Richmond, Lexington, Louisville, the West and the North, or, to Middlesboro, Knoxville, Asheville and the South.

On Scenic Route

The Berea to Mt. Vernon road in Madison and Rockcastle counties is part of Dixie Route A, the so-called short, scenic highway from the North to the South. The work in no manner is a State project. The money to finance it is otherwise obtained.

The proposition is being promoted by N. Buckner and Charles O'Conner of the Asheville, N. C., Western Carolina Motor club. Part of the fund is procured from a voluntary one-cent a gallon tax on gasoline in interested counties. The remainder is obtained by popular subscription.

Shooting Follows Argument Over City Fine

SELF DEFENSE PLEA

Both Participants Well-Known Here—Special Grand Jury This Morning Hears Case Here

Trial Set For June 17

Trial for Garrett Smith, indicted for the murder of Chief Joe Asher, will be held in Middlesboro June 17, the second day of the June court term here, according to announcement made this afternoon by Judge J. C. Forrester, circuit court judge.

Garrett Smith, Pineville patrolman, was indicted by a special grand jury here today for the murder of Joe Asher, Pineville chief of police, in Pineville police court late yesterday afternoon. According to reports, the killing followed an argument over a fine. Smith was brought to Middlesboro last night and kept in the city jail here over night.

Reports of the killing are somewhat conflicting, there being but few witnesses and these reluctant to make statements for publication. Smith declined to make any statement at the city jail here this morning. It is generally understood that he will plead he shot his chief in self defense. All agree that Smith had arrested a man who had been fined on a charge of drunkenness and that Chief Asher wanted the fine remitted or the case to come to a trial.

Several witnesses say that a man named Johnson complained to them that he had been fined $17.50 for drunkenness and that there were no grounds for the charge. They told him to take up the matter with the city judge, Dan Hoskins. The defendant is reported to have requested the judge to have his case reconsidered and brought to a trial. The judge granted the request, it is said, and told the man the $17.50 could be his bond.

Chief Seated In Chair

Johnson and his friend walked out of the police court room before Smith entered. Judge Hoskins is said to have informed him of the coming trial and to have asked him to summon witnesses. Chief Asher was in the room sitting in a low-backed chair near the judge's rostrum. Garrett Smith was standing in front of the judge's stand with one arm leaning on it, according to reports.

Chief Asher is said to have claimed that the man was unjustly fined, this causing the argument between the two men. There were five other persons in the room at the time, these being Judge Hoskins, Robert Arnett, Edgar Caton, Levi Lee and Jess Howard. The testimony of these in regard to the tragedy are substantially the same.

They say that the men engaged in a heated discussion, Smith claiming that men he brought in were often released without fines. "You and Red Stewart double-cross me," he is reported to have said while Asher replied: 'Whoever says I double-crossed you is a —— liar."

Smith is said to have drawn his gun then and begun shooting at the chief who was still sitting in the chair. Smith fired five shots, all of which hit Asher. One bullet entered the head behind the left ear, coming out at the right cheek, one entered the abdomen and three the left arm. The chief died almost instantly.

Say Asher Didn't Draw Gun

Two of the witnesses told the reporter this afternoon that, so far as they saw, Asher made no attempt to draw his gun at any time. The report has become current, however, that the two men went for their guns at about the same time and that Smith was the quickest. Dill Bingham, a relative of Asher, who reached the scene of the shooting a few minutes after it occurred, stated that Asher's gun was still in its holster.

After the shooting, Smith walked out of the police court room. A few minutes later he was placed under arrest by Deputy Jailer Joe Howard. Physicians were called who made an examination of Asher's body and reported the wounds as above described. Later the body was taken to the Arnett Undertaking establishment.

The killing created great excitement in the town. Within an incredibly short time, hundreds of people formed around the court house. Obviously because they feared for the safety of the prisoner, officers brought Smith to Middlesboro and lodged him in the city jail.

"Red" Stewart was appointed by the mayor as chief of police of Pineville soon after the shooting. Stewart was formerly chief of police and resigned the position March 6 after which date Asher was sworn in as chief.

Victim Well-Known Here

"Little Joe" Asher, as he was familiarly called here and at Pineville was very well known in this section. He had lived at Pineville for about fifteen years during a great part of which time he had been an officer. He had the reputation of being a fearless and efficient officer. He was also a successful business man and only a few weeks ago started a new bus line from Pineville to Barbourville.

Asher was 35 years old. He is survived by a wife and two small children; also three brothers, Ben, Lige and George, and a second cousin of H. H. Asher, formerly state highway commissioner. He has a large number of relatives in this county.

Garrett Smith who has been an officer at Pineville for some time is a brother to Sawyer Smith, federal district attorney under Judge A. M. J. Cochran of this district. His brother visited him here at the jail this morning.

Court being in session, a grand jury was hastily summoned and witnesses were brought from Pineville in one of the large busses. The investigation did not last more than two hours. The record shows Smith is held without bail.

There is some talk of having the trial here this week, the defendant being reported as anxious for it promptly but this had not been definitely decided this afternoon.

Definite funeral arrangements had not been made at noon, though tentative plans have been made for it to take place tomorrow afternoon.

OUTLYING SECTIONS OF MIDDLESBORO

To those persons whose interests in Middlesboro are centered in the heart of the town it is a great surprise to drive or walk into the outskirts of the city in any direction. It is only by doing this, though, that we realize the growth our city is making and the possibilities of growth it still has.

Perhaps the outlying district we are most familiar with is Binghamtown, on the road to Pineville, where several hundred of our population live, many of them employed at the tannery, some of them at the mines and others at varied occupations. In the East End, then, on the way across the mountains, there is another settlement of more than a thousand, with stores of their own, a school of their own, churches of their own and organizations apart from the rest of the city. The road to the mines, put Exeter avenue to Stony Fork Junction, leads to another settlement equally as defined and set apart as the other. Most of the men here are employed in the mines of Stony Fork and Mingo hollows and as such their interests are centered there. Noetown, the last of these outlying districts, is perhaps least known of any because of the rough road leading to it. This settlement, however, has shown a faster growth than any of the others and now claims a population between 1200 and 1500. Many of these people are employed in the mines but a large number of them have small farms and raise products for the market. The richness of the soil there makes this particularly profitable.

The great amount of new houses and new stores in all of these sections shows the remarkable growth they are making and emphasizes more than any thing the progress Middlesboro is making. The new schools in these outlying districts have been a great boon to progress and good roads and streets will be still more. The East End and Binghamtown are already well cared for Improvement of the Junction road is provided for in this summer's street program, and the road from Bingham town to Fonde will pass through Noe town giving to this section a good state road.

These sections, comprising about half of Middlesboro's population, are the real strength of the city. Ought not the residents of the center of town think more of them and take more pains to become acquainted with them?

STONE SHOULD ENFORCE IT

Attorney General Stone has put a sure finger on a weakness in prohibition enforcement. He finds that too few jail sentences are issued to offenders convicted of bootlegging. The law provides that first offenders may be fined not more than $1,000, or imprisoned not more than six months, while for a second offense the fine ranges from $800 to $2,000, and is accompanied by a prison sentence of from one month to five years. Mr. Stone believes federal judges too often emphasizes the fine rather than the prison sentence.

Now the only reason for anyone engaging in the risky business of bootlegging is that the profits are high. It is a game in which with luck, a law breaker can make enough money in a year or two to retire with a stake which will permit him to make a start in something more legitimate. A bootlegger can well afford to pay a fine. But a prison sentence removes him from business and gives him a period in which to do some thinking.

But the new attorney general may do even better. He can recommend to congress a revision of the enforcement sections of the prohibition law. That law, for some reason difficult to understand, put national enforcement into the hands of the commissioner of internal revenue, who is under the treasury department. If there were any distinction between the large-scale manufacture and sale of legal and illegal liquor, the one paying an important revenue, as liquor did when the government levied high taxes on its legitimate making, there would be some sense in turning enforcement on the law over to the treasury. But the prosecution of bootleggers has nothing to do with the national revenues. It is a matter of justice, and should come entirely within the attorney general's department.

The branch of the government that prosecutes should also be the brach that collects the evidence. The attorney general would then have all the factors in his own hands; and the cabinet officials whose duty it is to frame the financial policy of the nation would not have to run down criminals as a side-issue.—Knoxville Sentinel.

The WINDOW CLEANER — Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

CONSIDER the fellow who hangs by a rope and polishes windows all day. It's only his business but he's got the dope, for his work sends real brightness your way.

He climbs to the heights with his bucket and sponge and fastens himself to a sill. Then into his work he will cheerfully plunge while the watchers below get a thrill.

Water will splash if he sometimes gets rash, and splattering comes like the rain. Often we'll say that he gets in the way when he's working inside on a pane.

Still it's a calling; a worthy one, too, is this shining and rubbing all day. Give every cleaner the credit's that due, for his labor is work not play.

For he is the man who erases the smudge and makes dirty windows like new. He opens the way for a more cheerful day just by letting the sunshine through.

P. Edmonds without compensation; arrangements made by nurse for Baraca Class of First Baptist Church to pay taxes of poor woman with five children and release of the woman's brother from the U. S. army in Hawaii so that he could help support them.

The nurse assisted Dr. Haynes in examining sixty-five children at the Colmar school during an epidemic of whooping cough. She inspected Ely mines during an epidemic of measles and also inspected Colmar mines with Dr. Hayes on the report of small pox, but which turned out to be chicken pox.

With the assistance of C. E. Cooke, city commissioner, the nurse procured the sum of $226 from the Odd Fellows of Roaring Fork, Va. for a widow with five small children.

In the sale of the property of an old lady in the East End, the last note was lost, and the buyer refused to pay the last payment of $165 with out satisfactory evidence as to the loss of the note and the payment of the same. An attorney was employe dand the nurse had all papers fixed up properly and got the money for the old lady.

Arrangements were made for physician in obstetrical care, the cow being given as security for the bill. The bill has since been paid in full by the family. A loan of $10 was given to one man to pay his rent. This was due in April but on account of illness it has not yet been paid.

During the year the ladies of the Thimble Club of the Presbyterian church made 2,000 wipes and 300 bandages for surgical dressings. They also made one pair of large curtains for clothing shelves, gave three new comforts, 100 pieces of clothing and 10 baskets of wood. The ladies of the Baptist church made 350 wipes, while the ladies of the Euzelian class of the Baptist church gave eight baskets of food, three comforts, and fifty pieces of clothing, also some sheets and pillow cases to one family. The Red Cross furnished cotton to both Presbyterian and Baptist ladies for the making of comforts. Sixty-five orders were issued for groceries, all orders ranging from $2.65 to $9.49. These were paid out of the Red Cross treasury.

Ninety baskets of food were given at Christmas time by the school children and the Presbyterian Sunday school supplemented by some donated through the empty stocking fund. Ten baskets were furnished by money donated through the empty stocking fund. Ten baskets furnished by the Presbyterian ladies, eight baskets by the Baptist ladies and nine baskets by the nurse individually, making a total of one hundred and eighty-two orders during the year.

Thirteen orders were given for local coal, and 209 prescriptions were filled and given. The nurse gathered up 950 pieces of clothing of which she has given out 827 pieces. Seventy-three pairs of shoes and 186 pairs of hose were also given. Other things that were given to the indigent poor consisted of 25 rolls of toilet paper and 100 paper bags for sputum, cotton for 12 large bed pads, cotton for 4 comforts, one dozen nursing bottles, mosquito netting, five mattresses, 3 bedsteads, one laundry stove, 1 heating stove, 10 chairs, 2 tables, 7 blankets, 10 comforts, one quilt, 12 sheets and 6 pairs of pillow cases. For bedside cases there have been used out of the loan closet, 25 sheets, 19 night gowns, 12 pairs pillow cases, and 48 towels. This does not include sheets, pillow cases, and towels used by the school children in the central school.

A great deal of home service work was done during the past year. A number of ex-service men have been assisted in passing through Middlesboro, while a number of cases have been taken up for increased and renewed compensation. Two United States service men have been released to come home and assist their families.

During the month of June, 1923, a health exposition and better baby contest was given in the central school building. About 100 babies were examined. Forty-five prizes were given by the merchants of the town for both health work and better babies. This was one of the largest and one of the most beautiful exhibits ever put on in Kentucky by school children.

One hundred of the best posters were sent to the national organization of the American Red Cross to be used as exhibit material in the eleven states of the Washington division. These posters are attracting much attention, as the nurse has had a number of letters concerning them. They are also being used at many Red Cross regionals and conferences.

Five hundred and fifty copies of health work was made and given to the teachers as suggestions in health work on account of the large epidemic of measles and scarlet fever epidemic this year the nurse could not find time to do much teaching of hygiene in the school rooms. During this time nine rooms were thoroughly fumigated and all seats and desks were washed in a Lysol solution by the nurse.

On May 25 of last year a parade was given for the benefit of the community chest drive, in which 1600 school children took part. In speaking of donations the nurse forgot to mention the fact that 75 bags of candy, nuts and fruit were given th corganization by the Kiwanis club at Christmas time, also that $65 was raised through the empty stocking fund with which the nurse bought stockings, underwear, shoes and toys for the indigent poor. The ladies of the Christian church very kindly made the entire quota of Christmas bags sent to the soldiers in foreign ports and we appreciate this very much.

An invoice was made of both offices by Mrs. F. D. Hart, Jr., and Mrs. George Veal, the invoice of the central office amounting to $1316 and the school office at $200. Insurance was taken out on both offices. A complete dental equipment was installed in the central office for the purpose of rendering services to the indigent children. This work has not yet been started, but we hope it will be during the coming year. Two hundred dollars or our entire quota was sent to the Japanese relief fund. The old car was traded in and a new car was purchased for the nurse.

In making up the budget for the next year in the Community Chest all outside donations to the organization should be taken into consideration as it is not always possible to obtain these liberal donations.

The donation of the nurse to the organization in the past year has been $208 cash spent in the work, 9 baskets of food, 8 comforts, 1 quilt and many other necessaries, such as chairs, towels, sheets, etc. The best wishes of the nurse are with the organization in carrying on the work successfully and she hopes that the future of the Middlesboro chapter A. R. C. will be a shining light in the community in which it has carried on the work so long.

Respectfully Submitted,
WILHELMINE P. MARX,
A. R. C. Nurse.

IS HOLDING HIS OWN

"Ten years ago I received such wonderful help from your medicine for my stomach trouble that I have recommended it to hundreds of other sufferers. Recently a friend of mine whose brother in a distant city was stricken with acute indigestion and was not expected to live, got his brother to take a bottle on my advice. I have just received word that his brother was holding his own, and I am confident that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will entirely restore him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At Lee's and all druggists everywhere.

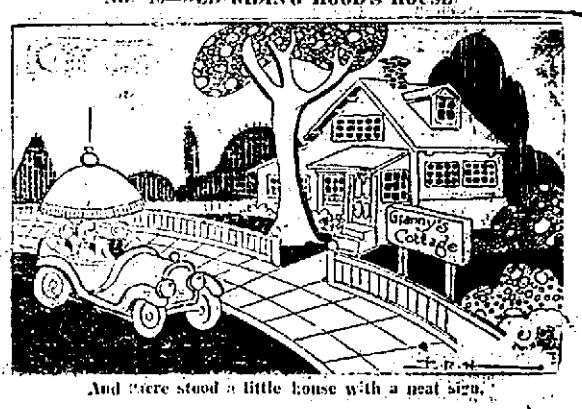
Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 10—RED RIDING HOOD'S HOUSE



And there stood a little house with a neat sign.

"Would you like to go and call on Red Riding Hood?" asked Mister Muggs as Nancy and Nick seated themselves in the magic automobile for their next adventure in Once-Upon-a-Time Land.

"Shall we see the wolf?" asked Nick.

"I'm not sure about that," answered little Mister Muggs. "You see, the woodcutters chased him so far and gave him such a beating that he may not have felt like coming back."

Chug, chug, chug! they went over seven counties and seven towns, and in the twinkling of seven eyes they came to the forest where Red Riding Hood had met the wolf.

And there stood a little house with a neat sign which said, "Granny's cottage—Lift up the latch and walk in."

So they all walked in—and there stood the old wolf.

"Oh, my!" cried Nancy, rushing for the cupboard where Red Riding Hood's grandmother had hidden long ago when the wolf chased her out of bed.

"Come here, Nancy," said little Mister Muggs bravely. "Don't be afraid of this fellow. I never did believe he meant to hurt Red Riding Hood or Granny either!"

Suddenly two big tears fell out of the wolf's eyes. "Oh, no, sir! I wouldn't have hurt a hair of their heads! I've been away for fifteen years on the other side of the world, and I've just come back. I'll tell you the truth now. I'm not really a wolf at all, but an enchanted prince. A wicked fairy put me under a spell for fifteen years. The fifteen years are up and I'm waiting for the spell to be broken. This is my kingdom and I own this forest."

"Well, well, well!" declared Mister Muggs. "Who would have thought it! I shouldn't, for one."

"And I never forgot the sweet little girl I met in the woods picking flowers. Do you know where she lives?" asked the wolf.

"We are just on our way to her house now," said Mister Muggs. "If you care to come you may follow us along the path."

Red Riding Hood, now grown up, was making beds and looked out the window and saw them.

"Look what's after you!" she cried, sticking her head out of the window. "It's a dreadful wolf."

"Oh, please ma'am, I'm not dreadful," said the wolf. "If you'll only let me come inside I'll be as good as gold and sit in a corner."

"Well, if you sit in a corner, you may," said Red Riding Hood. "Come in, everybody."

So they all went in and Red Riding Hood ran down to meet them.

But when she got there the wolf had vanished. And there stood a handsome young man in his place. The fifteen years were up that very minute and the prince was himself again!

How did it end?

With a wedding, of course, and Nancy and Nick and Mister Muggs stayed to see it.

And this is the real way the story about Red Riding Hood ends!

There's little rest or peace for the backache sufferer.

Days are tired and weary—

Night brings no respite.

Urinary troubles, headaches, dizziness and nervousness, all tend to prevent rest or sleep.

Why continue to be so miserable?

Why not use a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys?

Use Doan's Pills.

Your neighbors recommend Doan's. Read this Middlesboro case:

Mrs. J. P. Sharp, 202 N. 10th St., says: "A dull ache across my back became worse with time. Sharp twinges darted across my kidneys when I swept or did anything that I had to bend over. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. Two boxes of Doan's Pills, from Lee and Co.'s Drug Store, drove the backache away and restored my kidneys to normal."

FABLES ON HEALTH

A nursery! Of course there would have to be one now that a baby had arrived in the Mann house.

Mr. Mann wondered why he hadn't thought of it sooner and started gazing from room to room trying to figure which one to choose and how best to fix it up.

After a consultation with a builder conversant in such matters, Mr. Mann had learned that it is desirable to have an open fireplace in the nursery. This insures a good circulation of air.

The room should be simply outfitted and with few dirt-catching hangings. It should have plenty of windows, light and airy, and capable of good heating and ventilation.

The crib should be placed away from direct sunlight and protected from possible draft. As a bed, a good-sized clothes basket, well padded, is very satisfactory. There need not be a great deal of expense in the equipment.

Changes of clothing should be easily available, and a mother may be saved many steps by careful arrangement of drawers containing necessities.

Daily airings and sunnings should be given the room. Do this when the baby is out riding in the carriage, and see that the room is warmed when the baby returns.

A GOOD LAXATIVE

Black-Draught Recommended by an Illinois Lady, Who Says It Helps Her.—"Fine for the Liver."

St. Elmo, Ill.—"I have used Black-Draught for three years," says Mrs. J. W. Boyd, a well-known member of this community. "I was visiting a friend who had used it for some time. I was in need of a laxative and I had a burning in my stomach. I was constipated. She gave me a dose of Black-Draught and it helped me, so I used it from then on. It certainly benefited me. I think it is fine for the liver, too. I am glad to recommend it.

"One day our pastor was visiting us, and he said his system seemed clogged and asked me to give him something to take. I gave him Black-Draught. He was much pleased with the results and bought a package, himself."

Constipation forces the system to absorb poisons that should be thrown out, causing pain, discomfort and tending to undermine your health. Black-Draught helps to relieve this condition by acting on the bowels, and by regulating the liver when it is torpid, thus helping to drive out many poisons in an easy, natural way.

Don't take chances! At the first indication of constipation, take Black-Draught. Costs only a cent a dose.

SAFE ROAD FROM EVERGLADES TO THE LAKES

Highway from South to North is in Good Condition

ON OWN POWER

Gasoline and Chains Will Take Motorists Through on Dixie From Florida to Louisville

By Associated Press.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Apr. 30.—For the first time motorists are able to drive from the south to the north over a safe highway, motorists here affirm.

If car drivers will follow the route designated by them, they said today, they will experience no difficulty whatever in moderately dry weather and in extreme wet weather will get through on their own power with the aid of chains between the points(*). The route was approved by C. O'Connor, supervising engineer.

From the east coast of Florida go as follows:

Miami, Miami Beach, Palm Beach, Daytona, St. Augustine, ()Jacksonville, ()Savannah, Augusta, Greenwood, Newberry, Greenville, Tuxedo, Hendersonville, Asheville, Marshall, ()Hot Springs, ()Newport, Knoxville, Maynardsville, Tazewell, Cumberland Gap, Dishman Springs, Wilton, Woodbine, Corbin, London, (*)-East Bernstadt, Livingston, Mt. Vernon, Crab Orchard, Richmond, Lexington, Paris, Cynthiana, Falmouth, Cincinnati.

From west coast of Florida go via St. Petersburg, Tampa, Plant City, Lakeland, Leesburg, Ocala, McInopy, Gainesville, High Springs, Lake City, White Springs, Valdosta, Adel, Cordele, Macon, (*)Athens, Hartwell, Anderson, Greenville, from that point go via Asheville. A good road will be encountered from Lexington, Ky., to Louisville, Ky.

Reliable information enroute will be had at the folowing points:

Miami Motor club, Miami, Fla.; Daytona Motor club; Jacksonville Motor club, Savannah, Ga.; St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce; Tampa Board of Trade, Lakeland Chamber of Commerce, Ocala Chamber of Commerce, Lake City Motor club, Macon Chamber of Commerce, Greenville Chamber of Commerce, First National Bank and Fred Fisher's Garage; Newport, Tenn.; Knoxville Chamber of Commerce; Motch Brothers, National Bank, Citizens Bank & Trust company, Middlesboro, Ky.; First State Bank and Bell National Bank, Pineville, Ky.; Universal Garage, First National Bank, First State Bank, National Bank of John A. Black, Barbourville, Ky.; Cutler Motor company, Corbin, Ky.; Watkins Motor company, London, Ky.; Perrys Drug Store, Richmond, Ky.; Standard Oil stations, all gasoline filling stations collecting one cent per gallon for road fund, Lexington, Ky.; Paris City Service Club, Paris, Ky.; Business Men's club, Cynthiana, Ky.

All of this highway is on Dixie Route A. The bad stretches of the road are being maintained now in good travelable condition under the one-cent per gallon voluntary gasoline tax plan. Motorists are asked to patronize only the retail gasoline stations on this route through Kentucky who are collecting the penny a gallon for without this money it would be impossible to maintain the through highway.

Large crews of men are now employed by the Dixie Route A and committees are working out the bad stretches from Barbourville to Corbin and through Rockcastle county.

In commenting of this work C. O'Connor, supervising engineer, and N. Buckner, manager of the Asheville-Western Carolina Motor club, who have been handling this construction work in Kentucky since last October said that next fall will see this entire route all shaped up so that even in extreme wet weather motorists may drive from Cincinnati to South Florida without the aid of chains.

Within 60 days the road from Mt. Vernon to Berea and Richmond will also be opened for heavy travel.

SUBJECT REVIVAL SERMON TRUTH

"Christian Evangelist and Singer Winning Hearts of Those Who Hear Them

Last night Dr. D. W. Scott, pastor of the Christian Church at Ashland, preached to a full house at the Christian church here where he is holding a two weeks' revival service. His sermon subject was "What Is Truth?"

Dr. Scott is one of the few great pastor evangelists in the state, and is a speaker of tremendous power. Of a commanding presence, and a mind trained as a lawyer, his keen logic drives home with conviction. He is a man of faith and believes the Bible and eloquently preaches it. While eminently successful as an evangelist he uses none of the professional claptrap that is resorted to by many. He believes that the Gospel preached with faith and love is the "Power of God unto salvation to as many as believe it."

Miss Warrenir sang as a solo "I have a Friend."

Both Dr. Scott and Miss Warrenir are rapidly winning the hearts of the church going public of Middlesboro.

The meeting is intended to deepen the spiritual life of the entire community and all Middlesboro is invited by the church to share in it.

Dr. Camp at State Optometrists' Meet

Dr. Earl Camp has returned from annual convention of the Kentucky Association of Optometrists held last week at the Brown hotel in Louisville. Among the noted speakers there were Prof. Francis Barr of Rochester, N. Y., and George Rogers of Chicago, authority on mechanical optics.

Dr. Camp also attended the meeting of assistant examiners in optometry functioning under the State Board of Health of which he is a member. He also was present at the banquet which was attended by one hundred state optometrists and at which Dr. Arthur McCormack, secretary of the State Board of Health, was toastmaster.

Small Progress Yet on Raincoat Factory

Efforts were made last night to have a committee meeting of the members of the Merchants' Association who were appointed to assist in launching the new raincoat factory but on account of the absence of some of the members, the meeting could not be held.

It is understood that the committee will get together soon, probably this week, and discuss plans for assisting in the work by helping sell stock.

Plans for housing the proposed enterprise have not been definitely decide yet though there has been some talk of a building being erected. A local man stated yesterday that he would build a plant, not for profit but to help the concern get started.

M. H. S. VICTOR IN TRIANGULAR TRACK MEET

Jack Chesney is High Point Man, Scoring Fifteen Points

PINEVILLE SECOND

Several From Here Will Enter State Meet This Week-Sectional Meet at Pineville May 17

Middlesboro High School track men defeated Pineville High and Barbourville Baptist Institute in a triangular track meet yesterday afternoon at the Pineville Athletic Field. However, as the Barbourville school did not score a single point the meet resolved itself into a dual meet between Middlesboro and Pineville High, the final score being 68 to 54 in favor of the local team. The records made in this meet are for the most part the best that have ever been made in Southeastern Kentucky. However, the track was muddy and slow which made the time in the track events slower than they would have been if it had been a dry track.

Jack Chesney of the local team was high point man of the meet scoring a total of fifteen points. James of Pineville was next with thirteen points. Euster of the local team showed up well winning both the quarter and the half in good time. The most exciting event of the meet was the half-mile relay which was won by the local boys. This race was nip and tuck from start to finish but the superior sprinting of the high school boys overcame in the end. Lambert, running the mile for Middlesboro won by a walkaway. His time was the fastest that a mile has been run, in this section.

The high school will enter several men in the State meet this week and is planning to win the sectional meet, which will be held in Pineville on the seventeenth. Middlesboro won nine first places out of a possible thirteen beside taking several seconds.

The summary:

100 yard dash: Chesney, Middlesboro, first, Brown, Middlesboro, second, Earl, Pineville, third. Time 10 2-5 seconds.

220 yard dash: Chesney, Middlesboro, first, Kinnaird, Middlesboro, second, Earl, Pineville, third. 25 seconds.

440 yard run: Euster (M.) first, Wallbrecht (M.) second, Pineville, third. Time, 55 seconds.

880 yard run: Euster (M.) first, Hoskins, (P.) second, Pineville, third. Time, 2:20.

Mile run: Lambert, first, Pineville first and second, Van Beber (M.) third, time, 31 seconds.

120 yard high hurdles: Carnes (P.) first, Lambert (M.) second, Pineville third, time, 21 seconds.

Pole vault: Slone (M.) and Faulconer (M.) tied for first, Earl (P.) second. Eight feet, 6 inches.

Broad Jump: Brown (M.), first, Pineville second and third. 17 feet, 9 inches.

High Jump: Chesney (M.) first, Brown (M.) and Hoskins (P.) tied for second. Five feet, 3 inches.

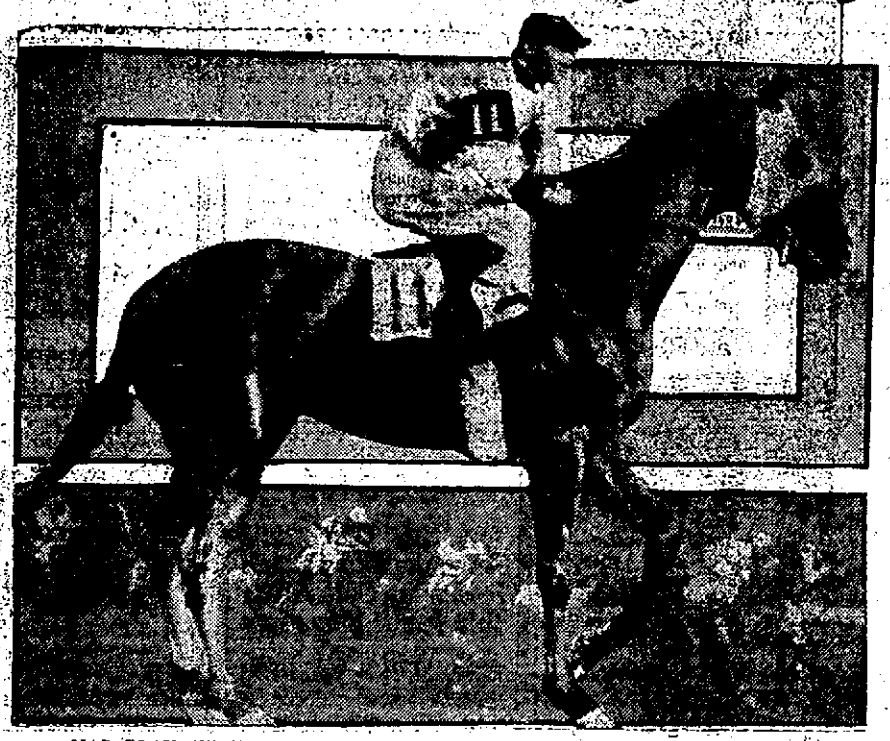
Javelin: James (P.) first, Carnes (P.) second, Cleland (M.) third. 122 feet, 4 inches.

Discus: James (P.) first, Carnes (P.) second, McGiboney, third. 92 feet.

Shot put: Wilson Pineville, first, Mayes (M.) second, Gibson (M.) third. Thirty-nine feet.

Half mile relay: Middlesboro team composed of Kinnaird, Faulconer, Van Beber, and Chesney, first. Time 1:45.

Will Sinclair Put This One Over at Kentucky Derby?



MAD PLAY, WITH ZEV SHOWN WINNING THE 1923 DERBY IN BACKGROUND.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Apr. 30.—Has Sam Hildreth, astute trainer of Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, another Zev up his sleeve?

Many smart horsemen profess to believe that Harry Sinclair—possibly you heard his name mentioned in connection with Teapot Dome—has a splendid chance of winning his second consecutive Kentucky Derby.

Mad Play is his 1924 hope, a chestnut colt by Fair Play out of Madcap.

It will be remembered that in 1923 Sinclair's Zev was little thought of by the rank and file during the winter, but the Sinclair connections bet quietly in the winter book and made a "killing."

Zev's chances were not shouted from the housetops, but in the Derby he shocked the turf world by taking to the front at the start of the historic race and winning with ease.

Later Zev became the idol of the American turf by defeating Papyrus, England's best three-year-old, in a match race at Belmont Park.

Is Mad Play another Zev? Although he showed fair form last year it was not until the running of the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes at Churchill Downs, Louisville, that he displayed Derby form.

In this race Mad Play was defeated by an eyelash by Wise Counsellor in 1:37 2-5, the fastest mile race ever run by a two-year-old in Kentucky.

Hildreth is pointing Mad Play for the Derby here on May 17 and the colt again will meet Wise Counsellor in this race.

The civil term of court was finished here today. The case of Goodyear Tire and Rubber company vs. H. E. Motch was on the docket but was continued. Nearly all of the other cases on the docket were either compromised or continued until a later term.

Judges for defendants were rendered in two forcible entry cases triet yesterday. The cases were J. S. Johnson vs. N. J. Sampson and J. S. Johnson vs. Thomas L. Shackleford. The Art Of Beauty

By B. M. DOUGLAS

The Very Young Person

WE don't like to call her a flapper, because the word seems to us to have gone out of style along with the frizzy bob, and the funny little hats perched over one ear. But although names may change the fact remains the same, and that very vivid and entrancing young person of the younger generation is always with us, and a very worthwhile sort too, in spite of the fulminations of authors, and playwrights.

All her faults are those of over-emphasis, and nowhere is this more true than in the realm of cosmetics. Although the young girl needs less cosmetics than her older sisters, she nearly always uses twice as much, and thereby covers up the vividness and glow of youth. Of course even young maidens need powder to avoid the suspicion of a "shiny nose," and for the beneficial effects that a good powder has on the skin, but they can be a little more careful about its use than they sometimes are. Girls are usually in a hurry, to get "downtown," to go to the dressmaker, or the milliner or to their dearest friend, or whatnot. Very often they seize a powder-puff full of powder and dab it on hastily, make a correspondingly hasty dab at the rouge pot, and sally forth in a comforting sense of perfection, which is hardly borne out by the appearance they present. Moreover they are somewhat given to the use of dead white powder, whether it is becoming to the color of their skin or not. With the addition of a large amount of bright lipstick, the effect is, to say the least, unaesthetic.

Kittie Leckie in "Artists & Models"

As a matter of fact, it is now generally conceded that white powder is passe, and the warmer shades are more becoming to even fair skins. One reason for this is the vogue for out of door effects, demanding the Peaches or Peaches and Cream type of face powders, which combine soft tan and pinkish tones blending with the warm skin of the modern outdoor girl. The dark eyed, black haired maiden will incline to Peaches and Cream, with a touch of Ashes of Roses rouge, which gives a color like the petals of the red rose. Just a touch, enough to bring out the sparkle in her eyes. If her own lips are naturally colorful, she may let well enough alone, or use a colorless lipstick merely for keeping the lips soft and smooth. If she feels the need of accentuation let her first be sure that her diet is of the kind that brings the natural color to the lips, and then if she does use the lipstick, let her take her time and apply it carefully. Nothing is more unbecoming on a youthful face than the hard, artificial outline of poorly made up lips. And don't succumb to the lure of beaded eyelashes and other sophisticated forms of make-up. It is not sanctioned by good form and has not even the excuse of becomingness.

Naturally our youthful heroine is bobbed. If she is of the type which can wear the hair straight and untouched by the curling iron, so much the better. This style of short hair is particularly piquant, with the brunette type. If she must be waved, let her undulations be of the large, natural variety, and remember that both stiffness and fuzziness should be avoided in the coiffure.

"I Never Ate A Better Meal In Any Restaurant!"

THAT'S what patrons are telling L. & N. dining car stewards every day. Nothing breaks the monotony of travel like a good meal, when it is well cooked and appetizingly served.

Cold meats and salads served on chilled plates; hot dishes on those taken from the warming cabinet. From the crisp celery or the delicious stuffed mangoes to the demi-tasse, you will find L. & N. food and service unexcelled on any other railroad, and equalled by few restaurants.

Remember when you are enjoying a meal on any railroad, that, due to the enormous initial expense (present-day dining cars cost the railroads more than $50,000 each)—the cost of hauling these big, heavy cars, the expense of stewards, waiters, cooks, linen, silverware, to say nothing of the spoilage of unused food—it is costing that road an average of about 44c more than your check will call for, and that this deficit is being absorbed by the railroads in order that you may travel in comfort.
